Sadly most boats, both power and sail, have interior arrangements that are designed to look good at a boat show, not work well offshore or when living aboard for extended periods while voyaging. Here we give you and explain, based on some 20 years of living aboard and voyaging, a guideline for eight things to look for as you shop for a boat.

8 Tips For a Good Voyaging Boat Interior Arrangement

A boat house needs to provide the very basics of living. You don't need luxurious quarters when you can float on the water! Consequently, a small boat house with a sturdy construction and quaint rooms is enough for any use. Apart from the material design and the base structure, everything can look just like a real home on land.
